Why Choose Aluminium?

While bifold doors are generally available in aluminium, uPVC and timber – there are a number of reasons why many homeowners choose doors in aluminium. Whether you prioritise strength, security, aesthetic style, or lack of maintenance – aluminium is a sensible choice for any type of property.

Which typical sizes can you choose from?

All aluminium bifold doors are made to measure. This means they are manufactured to your exact specifications, purposely to fit a particular size of opening. The configuration of the door also has an influence on the size of the door – the more panels there are, the larger the door set.

Made to Measure

The benefit of having custom-made bifolding doors is that they can fit any type of aperture, even those that aren't conventionally shaped. While there are technically some standard minimum and maximum dimensions to bear in mind, manufacturers of aluminium bifold doors tend to be very flexible in the options they can offer.
